Home Computer Support for Math Classes

The Middle School math teachers are working to find ways for students to avoid taking their math book home each day. There are two ways to access the math books on the computer, online with a password and using a CD-Rom. We are sending the CD-Rom home today for the students to try and decide if they would like to use it this year at home. You may keep it for the school year, but it needs to be returned to the teacher at the end of the year. You also may return it if it does not work on your computer.

Even with the computer access, all students are required to have their textbook each day in class.

Please complete this short questionnaire and return it to the math teacher with both parent and student signatures.

1. I have tried to access the book online. Yes No

2. I was able to get into the book online. Yes No

3. I was able to access the CD-Rom on my home computer. Yes No

4. I plan to keep the CD-Rom for use at home this school year. Yes No

_____ _____

(parent signature) (student signature)